TRAINING

TRAINING FOR HOTELS, RESTAURANTS AND RESORTS

At ACICJ we offer specialized training for teams who want to raise the quality of their service and make a difference. Our courses combine theory and practice to develop professional carving techniques, make the most of every piece, and ensure impeccable preservation of the product.

A training program designed to add real value, boost the talent of your staff, and reinforce excellence in every service.

TRAINING

PRIVATE TRAINING FOR ALL AUDIENCES

These trainings are designed for those who want to learn a trade with genuine career potential and open up new job opportunities in a booming industry. They are also ideal for those who want to refine their knowledge and keep growing in a highly valuable skill.

The course combines theory and practice to provide complete training on the origin of the product, its production, and professional carving techniques. Over the 9 hours of training, each participant will carve their own ham, which they can take home vacuum-packed and, if they wish, purchase through the academy.

Upon completion, a certificate of attendance will be awarded, confirming the training received and reinforcing the value of this experience as a genuine opportunity for learning and professional development.
